A remarkable instance of prompt legislation occurred A remarkable instance of prompt legislation occurred to the House to-day in the passage of a bill levying a duty of twenty per cent ad valorem upon all horses, mules, cattle, sheep, pigs and other live animals imported from foreign countries. This had its rise in the report that sheep were being driven across the border from Canada for the sake of shearing them here, and so avoiding the tax on wool. It is evidently a case of "diamond cut diamond" on both sides.
